Student Reporters

Hong Kong Medical Journal (HKMJ) is a continuation of the Journal of The Hong Kong Medical Association which could trace its roots back to 1948. HKMJ continued the legacy in 1995 as the premier general medical journal in Hong Kong.

HKMJ is the official publication of the Hong Kong Academy of Medicine and the Hong Kong Medical Association. It is a bimonthly journal indexed in MEDLINE/Index Medicus, Science Citation Index Expanded (SCIE), Current Contents, Index Copernicus, BIOSIS, and EMBASE/Excerpta Medica.

The section “Doctor for Society” published by the HKMJ was set up in August 2012 with an aim to showcase exemplary models of medical doctors who contributed substantially to the society via various forms of community services. It aims to let our readers to appreciate and learn from the spirit of selfless services for the betterment of our society. As a Student Reporter, you will write up this section by conducting interviews of the doctors. Past articles of the interviews can be accessed on <<http://www.hkmj.org>>.

Being a Student Reporter of the HKMJ:

- you can make more connections through interacting with local experts
- you will be able to expand your learning through exchanging information and conducting interviews
- you will be able to cite this experience in your CV

If you have a keen interest in writing and conducting interviews, and also want to participate in the discussion of interesting topics, please apply as a Student Reporter.
