Care to join NHS Lanarkshire

Based in Scotland, United Kingdom

Lanarkshire is an area of outstanding natural beauty and is very conveniently located, within commutable distance from both Glasgow and Edinburgh. Both cities have international airports and a host of leisure activities, excellent shops, first class theatres and visitor attractions. Lanarkshire is well situated within the picturesque Clyde Valley where there are amazing opportunities for those with an interest in outdoor pursuits. There are options for housing in the city, town or countryside.

Salary £87,534 - £116,313 based on 40 hours, up to 48hrs available.

Consultant Psychiatrist
This is an exciting time to join a dynamic, forward thinking and passionate team within Lanarkshire's Mental Health Services. We have always been an ambitious organisation aiming to improve the wellbeing of everyone we serve and the formation of Health and Social Care Partnerships gives unprecedented opportunities to make a real difference to people with mental health problems in both primary and secondary care settings. Our focus is on quality, safety and continuous improvement. We have been one of the pioneers of the Scottish Patient Safety Programme and there are many opportunities to be involved in this excellent programme alongside teaching and research opportunities. Lanarkshire Services have a particular focus on ensuring people receive the right service at the right time.

We are seeking to appoint Consultant Psychiatrists to join our teams within our General Adult Psychiatric Services and Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services within Lanarkshire, to implement our Mental Health and Wellbeing Strategy.

Consultant Vascular Surgeon
This post is a fantastic opportunity to join the South West Scotland Vascular Network (SWSN) centralised at University Hospital Hairmyres covering the populations of NHS Lanarkshire, NHS Ayrshire and Arran and NHS Dumfries and Galloway. This is an excellent opportunity to contribute to vascular and endovascular surgery in a major high volume expanding unit serving a population of 1.2 million offering the full remit of vascular surgery in one of the largest vascular centres in Scotland. Considerable investment and additional infrastructure is in place to support the SWSVN including a new state of the art hybrid endovascular operating theatre and new interventional radiology suite to compliment the surgical facilities already available. The procedures delivered include EVAR, FEVAR, TEVAR, CERAB, deep venous interventions, open aortic and carotid surgery, lower limb revascularisation and renal access with support provided by the vascular laboratory staffed by vascular scientists.
